About the Workshop

“Publish or perish” is a common adage. Academic scholarship is reflected in research proposals, conceptual papers, empirical articles, reports and so on.

Comprehending how to write quality papers, choosing the right journal/ publisher, learning about writing proposals for funding, being aware of plagiarism and copyright violations and finally knowing about citation index and impact factors are important aspects to be taken into consideration while writing for publication. The workshop will be a great value-add to early career academicians and research scholars who wish to have their work published.

Objectives of the Workshop

- ▶ To provide inputs on writing styles & techniques
- ▶ To equip participants to apply for research funding
- ▶ To throw light on citation pattern and issues of copyright violation & plagiarism
- ▶ To create awareness about citation analysis and impact factors
